Navigating a governmental labyrinth presents a spectrum of opportunity for both public and private entities. But these opportunities often come with hurdles that organizations must clear to reap the benefits. The goal of Kilpatrick Townsend's Government Relations team is to assist our clients with their relationship with government at all levels.

Kilpatrick Townsend's Government Relations lawyers combine traditional "lawyer skills" such as analysis, oral advocacy and concise writing, with political experience and day-to-day familiarity with legislative and executive branch processes and principals.

Our lawyers represent clients on a broad range of subjects before various governmental bodies both legislative and regulatory. We assist in developing strategies; drafting legislation; preparing witnesses (and accompanying them) for testimony before in legislative and agency hearings and investigations.
